

Plytix is hiring

Marketing and communication rockstar

Who is Plytix?

Plytix is a real tech startup just like you see in the movies. Our office is a big residential house with bean bags, hammocks and computer screens everywhere. The atmosphere is pretty sick and we all work significantly more hours than stated in our contract and for way less money than most of our former classmates from college.

We do this because we are all fucking romantic lunatics who are driven by a higher purpose. We are naive enough to believe that our little team of nerds can transform the ecommerce industry as we know it and even challenge some of the largest players in tech. And of course, we do this because when we succeed, we'll all be swimming in dollars like Scrooge McDuck.

About the job

In this section we're supposed to describe the job you'll be doing in Plytix, but who are we kidding. It is a freaking tech startup, so unless you're a god gifted Python developer, we won't be able to tell you what your next month will look like. We all wear multiple hats at once, and as a company we gave up official job titles a long time ago, because they simply don't make sense. Don't worry you'll have a clear set of responsibilities, but you should be ready to handle multiple projects on the side as well.

What we are looking for Someone to join our marketing & communication department in Malaga who can write like a whiz, thinks like a growth hacker, and knows a thing or two about SEO.

- We believe in attitude over experience. With the right attitude and drive, there's nothing that can't be accomplished.
- We want happy people who can handle a high paced, dynamic environment without freaking out.
- Our culture is important for us and we prefer to work with people who we can also hang out with outside of work. We do a lot of things together in the team and we would like to keep it that way.
- Your English, especially your writing, has to be better than that of our Danish founder and CEO.
- Most importantly, it's a huge plus if you're super smart, driven, and ready for anything.

What's in it for you?

- Competitive full-time salary
- Stock options
- Catered, free lunch
- Ice cream, Coffee, beer and all that shit for free
- To be a part of a employee-first culture
- Not be in or around the PTA in any way shape or form
- The chance to be a part of an exciting start-up business, ambitious to be the next billion dollar company and work with a multicultural team of awesome individuals
- And of course, super nice and smart colleagues

Now go on and send an email to emma@plytix.com that includes:

- Your LinkedIn Profile
- An exciting motivation Letter
- Your availability to start

